Sarah Cooper is a mortgage lending professional with over sixteen years of experience specializing in helping first-time homebuyers and those upgrading to their forever homes. As a proud 2021 Leadership of the Fox Cities graduate, Sarah is passionate about making the home-buying process a joyful and memorable experience. Her philosophy focuses on early engagement, advising clients to discuss their housing goals well ahead of making a purchase, ensuring a well-planned and satisfying journey.

Holding a Bachelor of Science in Organizational Communication from Marian University, Sarah excels in making complex processes understandable and stress-free for her clients.

Sarah's advice for new clients:

Don't be afraid to make an appointment to talk about your goals and dreams. Even if you are months or a year away from being ready to make an offer on a home, it's never too early to start planning...and it's free!

Outside of her professional life, Sarah is deeply involved in her community and cherishes her quality time with family. She enjoys outdoor activities, reading, and values these moments of personal downtime to rejuvenate, balancing her professional endeavors with a fulfilling personal life.
